Recuperative Care

Quick Reference Guide

What is Recuperative Care?

Recuperative Care, also called medical respite, provides short-term residential care for individuals who (a) are homeless or at risk of being homeless, (b) are discharging from the hospital, but still need to heal from injury or illness, and (c) whose conditions would be exacerbated by an unstable living environment.

An extended stay in a recovery care setting allows individuals to continue their recovery and receive post-discharge treatment while obtaining access to primary care, behavioral health services, case management, and other supportive social services, such as transportation, food, and housing.

CenCal Health members who qualify for this service can receive up to ninety (90) days of Recuperative Care services consecutively.
